

Bob's Story

Once there was a guy named Bob. Bob was very rich. He was so rich he owned the earth, but there was a problem. He didn't have any legs.

Bob lost his legs in the civil war. He chopped up logs for the guns and someone accidentally cut off his legs. Yes, he almost bled to death, but by some miracle he lived! Let me guess, you're wondering if he was born in 1861, how is he still alive?

Well, you see, he fell into an icy river and was frozen for 144 Years. So with today's technology, he got robotic legs!
